Klass' Store Is Looted of Suits, Clothing

Enter Store from Rear at 3
O'Clock Wednesday Morning

Robbers entered the clothing store of Otto S. Klass shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning and cleaned out the entire suit and dress pants section and a number of various other smaller articles.

A seven-passenger Studebaker touring car parked directly in front of the Klass store and the occupants went through the alleyway to the rear and after trying one door which was covered by iron shutters, pried open another window which led into a rear shed of the store. From here the robbers drilled a hole through the louver door large enough to reach through and turn the catch lock to open the door.

The clothing was carried out the rear door and through the alley out to the car.

Night Watchman Thompson said he saw the large car parked on the street, but at the time did not give the incident much attention, but after seeing the men get into the car and drive south, he started to investigate. After finding the window up and the door drilled, he notified Klass, but it was then too late to take action.

A telephone message was forwarded immediately to Waukegan police authorities and Sheriff Ed. Ahlstrom and Police Officer John Metz started to meet the robber machine, and while dashing west on Belvidere road headed straight into an approaching train on the Northwestern line at Wilson station. Realizing their fate, the brakes were applied quickly, but as the machine was going at such a terrific rate it would be impossible to halt the car, so Ahlstrom swung the car into the ditch. Both occupants were, slightly bruised, but able to journey in search of the robbers, which proved futile.

The robbers evidently were not after money, for the safe was not touched, although it was open and contained three valuable diamond rings and about thirty dollars in cash.

Although Klass has not as yet taken inventory of the stolen goods, it is thought that the list included about 125 pair of dress pants and about 50 suits and several caps, ties, underwear, etc.

Grade School News Notes

Editor, Loyd Murrel

From our late tests in Illinois History Mr. McTaggart received the following answers. Marquette was called the "Father of Waters." LaSalle built the "Griffon" to take with him on his trip.

Douglas was called "The Little Giant" because he ate so much.

The fifth and sixth grades are singing two part songs.

Mr. Sablin is putting new eaves on the building.

The boys are beginning to play baseball.

Joe Pacini brought several pieces of Italian money for the fifth grade to see.

The mud is so thick in the school yard that no one can walk around the building.

The seventh and eighth grade boys are sprinkling ashes on their ball diamond so that it will not be so muddy.

The seventh and eighth grades had their Illinois History finals Thursday.

Elizabeth Klog, having lived in South Dakota, was able to give the sixth geography class some "first hand" knowledge of the Bad Lands.

Aretus Keulman forgot to get up Thursday morning so he missed the finals.

The children that are sending penmanship to Mr. Faurst received another set of papers.

DOLLAR DAY IN ZION

Saturday is Dollar Day in Zion Department store. The men's and boys' clothing department (their full page ads appearing in this paper) have some very unusual values to offer you.

A great many people from here always make it a point to go to these sales. There is a good restaurant right in the store and persons can get a very good meal for a reasonable price.

"Certainly— It's Bobbed!"

Age need not deter any woman from having her hair "bobbed" and "shingled"—as they call it—nowadays. The past few weeks Antioch has been hit by an epidemic of bobbed hair, the school girl, the housewife, and even grandma is included in the list of those becoming more attractive and childish via the bobbed hair route.

The most recent conversation of all house parties and other gatherings is "who do you suppose had it bobbed today," and one local barber says, "it will take about twelve more bobbed hair women to make it unanimous."

The above photo is of Mrs. J. M. Hawkes, of Los Angeles. Mrs. Hawkes is 103 years "young," and we'll all agree that bobbed hair is really becoming to her.

Mrs. Vykruta Injured in Auto Collision

An automobile accident in which Mrs. Charles Vykruta of Antioch was seriously injured, occurred on Green Bay road, south of Belvidere about seven o'clock on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Vykruta and Mr. Soroson and two children were returning from Chicago when a large Hudson car bore down upon them from the opposite direction. Mr. Vykruta claims the approaching car was far to the left side of the road when the cars collided. The Ford car in which Vykruta was driving was practically demolished. Mrs. Vykruta was in the rear seat with the children and was thrown to the front of the car and was so badly injured, it was necessary to remove her to the hospital in Waukegan. The children were wrapped in a heavy blanket which prevented them from severe injury. Mr. Vykruta was only slightly bruised.

Mrs. Vykruta was returned from the hospital on Monday, but was taken back again on Wednesday.

Attorney Dady of Waukegan will bring suit for damages against the occupants of the Hudson car, who are Chicago people.

Ernest Brook Removed to Wesley Hospital, Chicago

Ernest Brook, who has been very sick for over a week, was taken to Wesley hospital in Chicago on Tuesday morning. Monday evening of last week he was taken sick and since that time has been under the care of a doctor from Burlington and a trained nurse. On Monday evening a specialist from Chicago was summoned and he decided to take Mr. Brook to Chicago for further examination. Mrs. Brook, Mrs. Warriner and Dr. Newell of Burlington accompanied him. Report last night stated that he had stood the trip very well but his condition was the same.

Prosecutor Race Now Down to Four Candidates

Harold J. Hanson, up to last Thursday a candidate for the choice of state's attorney of Lake county, filed with County Clerk Lew A. Hendee his petition to have his name removed from the ballot and declared his intention of leaving the race for the county prosecutor's job.

Hanson follows the lead of Eugene M. Runyard in leaving the race for the state's attorney's job, and gives as his reason the same as those of Attorney Runyard, who stated that there were too many in the race. Hanson's name will not be on the ballot for the primaries.

There are yet four men in the race for the job. Herman C. Litchfield is making a strong run for the office and William A. Dean, James G. Welch and Ashbel V. Smith are the other candidates.

The primaries for this election will be held on April 8, at which time the voters will decide on the candidate to run for the offices at the regular election. The four men who are candidates for state's attorney are making a strong run for the office and while their numbers makes a split in the vote, a change in the office is not expected.

News Notes Taken From Other Papers

News from Entire County in Condensed Form

The second blood transfusion was performed for Supervisor Henry Eger of Libertyville, at the Victory Memorial hospital a week ago by the Lake County Clinic. Mr. Eger was reported to be slightly improved following the transfusion in which he was given a pint of blood from the veins of James Callahan, Waukegan dairyman. Several months ago Mr. Eger's son gave blood, but his condition was such that another transfusion was made necessary.

George Patrick Renchan, proprietor of the Avon Park Resort at Round Lake, who has been touring all through California during the winter, writes from Los Angeles to friends that he has seen all of California, from one end to the other, is all ready to come back and start the season at the Round Lake resort. Mr. and Mrs. Renchan have made their headquarters in Los Angeles and have toured by auto all through the Sunshine state.

That Claire C. Edwards may resign soon as judge of the circuit court, is a report received from persons who are close to the judge.

The information is to the effect that he is considering retirement to the private practice of law in the near future, and has discussed the matter with a number of his close friends, being of the opinion that it would be more remunerative than the position he now holds. He practiced in the Waukegan courts for a number of years before being placed on the bench.

It is also reported from an apparently reliable source that there are at least two members of the Lake county bar who have their eyes upon the circuit judgeship. They are said to be County Judge Perry L. Persons and State's Attorney A. V. Smith.

A total of the low bids for the erection of the new high school at Burlington opened at a meeting of the school board at Weller's hall a week ago Wednesday was $349,452, just exactly $149,452 more than Burlington people have to spend on the building.

Forty-one business organizations from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan had their bids on the table when the meeting opened at 11 o'clock and as many as 60 representatives of those firms were in attendance at the meeting.

Not badly discouraged at the outlook on the situation in spite of the enormous figures which greeted them, the members of the board went into executive session with Architect Oppenheimer, immediately after the meeting. They voted to reject all bids as there would have to be too much cutting down and revision of the present plans to bring the building costs within the money available here.

Every foot of right-of-way within the corporate limits of the city of McHenry for the hard road has now been secured, the last of the dedication having been received last week. The last to sign the dedication was the Borden Milk company, who owns and controls the mill pond in this city, and over which the proposed road is to pass via a modern cement bridge. Now that all of the dedications have been signed it is up to the voters of that city to see that the $10,000 bond issue carries at the special election to be held there Saturday, March 29.

The surveyors from G. N. Lamb's office at Elgin started Monday to make a survey of route 22 from Barrington to Lake Forest. The men making the survey are: H. C. Richmann, R. J. Poole, R. H. Underhill and Arthur Marks. Governor Small has promised that work on this road would be started this year.

Onella Christensen, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Christensen of Palatine, was killed in Barrington last Saturday when she was thrown under a C. & N. W. passenger train from which she was alighting.

Speaks Here Saturday

Col. A. V. Smith

Col. A. V. Smith will speak after the first show at the Crystal theatre on Saturday evening. A large crowd is expected to be on hand.

High School Vaudeville Is Big Success

The high school vaudeville Friday night was a big success. The program included some very interesting acts. The Maker of Dreams was very pretty, but could have stood a little more "pop". The "Bubble Dance" was everything to be desired in both scenic effect and dancing. The Misses Rothers and Bacon danced together very well. Mr. Kuttill mystified the audience with his Black Magic and with the assistance of Mr. Richard Kaye brought the house down with a good laugh.

Mr. Kuttill—Now I want you to concentrate on one of the colors of the rainbow. Are you ready?
Mr. Kaye—Yes.
Mr. Kuttill—What is it?
Mr. Kaye—White.
Miss Edith Ewens' "White Bells of Memory Chimes," was very pretty. "Suppressed Desires" with Henrietta Brewster, Stephen B. Hooster, and Mabel; enacted respectively by Mabel Van Deusen, Albert Herman and Ardis Grimm left a decided impression on the sub-conscious mind for more of their work in this line.

L. R. Watson, with the assistance of Richard Cass was "Minding His Business" with usual ability.

The song revue all-told was very well applauded, especially the rendering of "Last Night on the Back Porch."

Mr. Bright's "bit of Scotch" was greatly appreciated. He had to come back with extra encores before the audience would be satisfied. "Crimoline Days" was very pretty. The show was a very satisfactory financial success, and now all are up for the "operetta" the closing attraction of the season.

CANDIDATES INVITED TO ADDRESS VOTERS AT FOX LAKE

The voters of Fox Lake and neighboring towns will be given an opportunity to hear any of the candidates for office at a meeting to be held under the auspices of the Woman's club, Tuesday evening, April 1st, at eight o'clock, at the Fox theatre.

This is a non-partisan meeting. Invitations have been sent to all candidates of all parties for County, Town and Village offices, also to all candidates for State Senator and State Representative. Owing to the large number of speakers the time for each will necessarily be limited.

Every voter is urged to take advantage of this opportunity to meet these candidates and obtain reliable, first-hand information on which to base his choice at the polls.

STATE BANK OF ANTIOCH STARTS DEBT CLAIM

The State Bank of Antioch last week filed suit in the county court against Walter C. Hage of Antioch for the sum of $153.00. The bill states that the bank loaned Hage $125 and that the difference is in accrued interest.

Two men, evidently business partners, took their places in the line that was wending its way toward the ticket window for the evening performance.

Suddenly one of the men seemed to remember something. He clasped one hand to his forehead, gasped, and in consternation said to his partner: "Abe, I forgot to lock the safe!"

"Huh!" said the other. "Why worry about the safe ain't locked? We're both here, ain't we?"

Commercial Men Reorganize at Monday's Meeting

Appoint Robt. C. Abt to Lead Association for First Year

Twenty-five business men of Antioch responded to the call for the reorganization of an association Monday evening at Woodman hall. John Woodhead acted as temporary chairman, with S. E. Pollock as temporary secretary. The objective of the new organization was discussed.

Election of officers resulted in the following: President, Robt. C. Abt; vice president, Horace Adams; secretary, S. E. Pollock; treasurer, George Bartlett.

After the elected officers took their positions a board of directors was elected as follows: Herbert Vos, chairman; William Christian, John Woodhead, Neil Shultis, O. E. Hackmister, W. R. Williams and Joseph James.

For organization work, the chairman was instructed to appoint a committee of five. Mr. Abt appointed Wm. Hosling, Archie Maplethorp, John Woodhead, Herbert Vos and E. E. Brook.

A great deal of discussion was heard as to whether this organization was to succeed the old organization or assemble under another name. The matter of a name was left to the organization committee.

The board of directors will meet Thursday night at the village hall, when by-laws will be drafted. The general consensus of the objective of the association seemed to take on more of a social and boosting Antioch organization. Something that this town is very much in need of.

The elected officers met with unanimous approval, and the associations welfare seems to be in very progressive hands. Mr. Abt, while apparently a new man in town, has been here long enough to be very highly respected, both as a citizen and business man, and all look for a very successful organization under his guidance. Mr. Adams will make a good assistant to the president. Mr. Pollock as secretary needs no comment, and Mr. Bartlett's association with the bank makes him an ideal treasurer.

The association will meet again on next Monday evening in the village hall. A report of the board of directors will be made. Every man in Antioch is urged to attend the meeting and help perfect the organization for some real constructive boosting for the coming season.

ANTIOCH A. C. DEFEATS REGNER BASKETEERS

In one of the most exciting and roughest games of the season the Antioch A. C. defeated the Regner A. C. basketball team of Kenosha by a 30 to 21 score Tuesday evening at the high school. The local team consisted of Melvin and Keulman, forwards; Tiffany and Chinn, guards and Barthel, center. The guarding of Tiffany and Barthel and the basket shooting of Keulman and Chinn were the outstanding features of the game.

In the preliminary games, the Antioch boy scouts midgets lost to the North School team 6 to 5 in a well-played game. The North School heavy team met defeat by the B.V. Scouts heavy team by a 20 to 10 score.

COPYRIGHT BY GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY

Little struggled to free herself. "It is, too. I know it's Thad. Leggo! Leggo! Darn it all, leggo!"

"Shut up. I got ways to keep you still." She seized the child's arms and twisted them back with a swift wrench. Little gasped; she turned faint with the pain. But when the first agony had passed, she was filled with renewed defiance. It flashed into her mind that the woman was waiting for something. Little wished it would come. Whatever it was, surely she could—

The moon struck her ears again, a long wall of human suffering, the de-olation of a child that is spent with crying. Little's fingers worked, but she held herself still. Perhaps the woman would go to sleep after a while. Nobody could stay awake always. . . . The gas shot up at one side, sank again with a dismal gurgle.

Presently there was a sound outside—faint, momentary, like a step. Little's heart gave a bound of relief. But evidently it was not the sound that the woman had been waiting for. She sat straight in her chair, in an attitude of alarmed listening. The sound came again. The woman sprang up, turned off the gas, and went out quickly toward the front of the house.

Instantly Little dashed the other way, through a door which she had previously decided must lead to the kitchen. Groping her way around the wall, she opened a door into another room, and then one which opened into space—the stairway.

She plunged recklessly down the dark stairs, her nerves keyed high by the fear of pursuit. The moaning was louder now. Thad was near; she knew it. Stumbling over rubbish, half falling before she could regain her footing, she made for the direction from which the moaning seemed to come, and encountered a rough wall. But there was a door. There was a key. It turned. As Little dashed into the room, she heard steps on the stairs. There was noise everywhere—steps overhead. Things were happening. Folks were after her. She must hurry.

"Oh, I want to go home," whispered a small voice. "I want Penzie."

"Yes, darling—you shall have her," panted Little, bending over and untangling Thad from a ragged quilt. She could see nothing, but her senses were sharpened by emergency. She could make out the window as a gray patch in the blackness, but there was not light enough from the street to shine in. She dragged Thad toward the window, unlocked and lifted it, pushed him through. As she followed, somebody stumbled into the room, swooped down upon her.

"Leggo!" screamed Little, in a panic, kicking and struggling. "Leggo!"

"Shut up, or I'll kill you," retorted a hoarse voice, scarcely more than a whisper. It was the woman. She had followed. She was trying to prevent.

The next instant they were outside—Thad, Little, the woman.

"Stop, there!" shouted a voice. It was a man's voice, from the yard.

"Stop, or I'll shoot. Stop! I'll shoot." It was the climax of terror for Little. The command to stop was the signal to run. She snatched Thad into her arms with a strength that had never before been hers, and struck through the broken fence, into the vacant lot. The woman ran, too—in a flight of her own, although Little did not suspect it.

A shot rang out. Another! A third! Little bounded through the air, spurred on by the very things which should have stopped her. A hot tingling ran across her arm. . . . Many voices behind her! Thad slipped out of her grasp. She pulled him by one hand. . . . She must reach the machine in the back of the lot. They could hide under the live-oak trees.

At last they got there. Little listened. No one was following—not even the woman. The first danger was over. There were houses near. She drew Thad close to her behind a tree. She must rest a minute. Her arm felt hot; it hurt. The sleeve was wet.

They started on again, but it was a hard journey home. Little wavered along the sidewalk; that wonderful strength had left her. She tried to carry Thad, but she could scarcely lift him, to say nothing of carrying him in her arms. He dragged along beside her, tired from his storm of sobbing, but growling nervously excited over his experience now that he had this assurance of safety.

Little brought him at last to The Custard Cup. The big door was closed, so she went around the house and opened the kitchen door, pushing Thad in ahead of her.

"I got him, Penzie," she mumbled. "I got him for you, I—" Her eyelids fluttered; her body swayed dizzily. She threw up her arm—and plunged forward to the floor at Mrs. Penfield's feet.

As Mrs. Penfield gathered Little into her arms, she was horrified to find that the child's sleeve was soaked with blood. Little had not fainted; she had fallen from dizziness. She was still dizzy. Mrs. Penfield carried her into the bedroom.

"I Got Him, Penzie," She Mumbled.

It was only a surface wound, the bullet having grazed the flesh for some distance; but the subsequent violent exercise had made it bleed freely. Mrs. Penfield washed and dressed it, refusing meantime to listen to the refusal of stories which both Little and Thad were determined to tell. They were home and safe; nothing else mattered.

It was a long time before she soothed them; and after they had gone to sleep, Mrs. Penfield kept vigil.

The crooked old clock had traveled to half-past nine, and she had heard nothing from the police station. Then Jerry Winston tramped into the kitchen and threw his hat on a box.

"They got the money, Carline. I wish I could have brought it to you, but I'll take an order from the court to release it."

"The money! The money that I—" He nodded. "Two hundred and twenty-eight dollars—bills and one check inside 'em. They found 'em on the rascal, envelope and all. He hadn't had time to—"

"The rascal! Who?"

"Bosley!" Mrs. Penfield leaned back against the wall, limp with consternation. "You don't mean—that Frank Bosley stole—"

Jerry Winston shook his head. "I don't mean he started out to do it—no. He's been playing for bigger stakes—that. But we got him at last—confound his picture, we got him!" He brought his fist down on the table with a blow that teetered it on its frail legs.

Mrs. Penfield sank to the wash-bench. "The world's a-swallowing, Uncle Jerry. Would you mind planning me to something somewhere?"

He laughed. "Why, no. If you'll keep mum about it—cross your heart and hope to die, or however Little puts it—I'll tell you the whole story. You'll see my part in it can't be published."

"I shall be as Little says," she smiled back. "Are you going to ask me to believe that Frank Bosley took this money and—"

"Exactly. He came for the package that his wife left, and you weren't here. He had to have it quick, 'cause he'd got scared and was planning a get-away, so he came in for it; and I don't have to remind you, Carline, that it's easy to find things in this house. He found the package, and there was the money beside it. Why not take it, as long's he was going out of town anyway?"

"What are you talking about, Uncle Jerry? Why was he getting away and—"

"Shaw, now, Carline, the idea of your being confused 'cause I began at the wrong end of my story. I'll take the other end if you'd like it better. You see, I been trying out a little sleuthing."

"Oh!" Mrs. Penfield drew a deep breath. On the instant her memory caught up a few perplexing occurrences in the past months.

"Yes, I've always had a leaning toward it—read a good deal and followed what other tellers had done, and all that; and when I got my knookout for the woods, I naturally wanted to go into something that appealed. I had a lot of personal recommendations and a letter to a man connected with the lumber company. Through him and considerable red tape, I finally got sworn in as a special with the secret service, when they were taking on a number of extra men to work on the Bosley ring. My particular assignment has been to shadow Bosley. Believe me, I've sweat blood over that feller, darn him!"

Mrs. Penfield's eyes were fixed on his face. "That's why you came here—took the left and—"

"Sure, I wanted to be 'round as casually as possible. I've worked every scheme I could concoct to worm myself into that feller's life. But he was a slick one in his own line. He's been stringing me on a real-estate deal, and I've allowed myself to be string. Of course he didn't suspect my object, but I sort of made him nervous, hanging 'round and getting in with his cronies."

"Uncle Jerry, you're worse'n a woman for not getting at the main point. You may be a star detective, but you'd never make a reporter. Now will you kindly stay still in your tracks till you've told me what you wanted him for?"

"Oh, that!" Jerry Winston chuckled. "Yea, maybe I did overlook that. It's been in my mind so long. Why, he's been a leader in a ring that's been supplying drugs to a lot of flunks in exchange for their passing off counterfeit money. Choice circle, and a big one, too! All nations represented—Chinese and whites! Little put me wise to their money-factory. I was sure they had one, but—"

"Little!" Mrs. Penfield came to her feet. "What do you mean?"

"Holy smoke, Carline, don't get so excited! Little didn't know what she was doing, and I didn't never mentioned it to her. Catch me quizzing a kid! No, all is, I overheard her twitting Bosley, 'bout sinking into a house next to one of the vacant lots. I hurried the loan-to and listened; but, believe me, I did more prowling than Little has 'fore I found the vacant lot and the house. Hiding it was part of last night's work."

"You see, yesterday I got hold of one of his dope flunks that was willing to squeal on him, so last night we put it through as smooth as silk. The feller bought the stuff with money we could have identified in Sinn. One of our own men was within witnessing distance, too. Some of the very powder you were guarding yesterday, Carline, is one of our choicest exhibits today. We sure got Bosley; darn it all, we got him!"

"I s'pose," said Mrs. Penfield slowly, "that Mrs. Bosley's been honoring me with her packages of counterfeit money and dope, but seems as if it wasn't very clever—"

"Clever!" Jerry Winston took the word out of her mouth. "She was the life of the ring in the beginning, but lately she'd lost her nerve, and Bosley had the devil's own time to keep her from breaking away. She didn't care if Bosley got caught, so long as she'd cleared her skirts. If the house was going to be searched, the goods weren't going to be there. See? Ain't any of these folks so clever that they don't do something foolish 'fore they're through."

"Poor thing!" commiserated Mrs. Penfield. "I wonder what'll become of her."

"Well, I can tell you. She'll get a chance to think it over. We got her last night, too. She was stinging an ex of her own, but we trailed her to Sixteenth street station, just in time to see her getting on the local for the mole. That gave her two chances: To go on to San Francisco or come back on a through train. We telegraphed the police on the other side to watch the ferry; then we waited for the Shasta limited—and there she was! Gee, I was glad. The more of the trick I could help to turn, the surer I'd be of building up a reputation. Well, sir, the little body went right up through the roof of the sleeper first off; then she came down and melted into tears. Some confession we got out of her! That's how I got hold of a lot of things I been telling you. Seems 'twas you tipped her off that she'd better get out of town."

"I! Why, I didn't see her last evening."

He laughed. "No, but you telephoned the police from Mrs. Carter-box's and she told Mrs. Bosley as a piece of neighborly gossip. I came around to hunt up Mrs. Gussie and was just in time to catch a glimpse of her taking a taxi. I'd 'a' caught her at the station if the darned engine of the car I'd rented hadn't stalled on me a block away. Golly, I was mad!"

"I'm sorry for 'em both," declared Mrs. Penfield thoughtfully. "Folks that mix up their lives that way ain't really grown up. But, oh, Uncle Jerry, I can't be thankful enough that I'm going to get that money back. You can't imagine what a weight it lifts. It was a small matter compared with Thad, but—"

"Thad! What's the matter with Thad?" he reiterated.

Briefly she told him.

He shook his head. "If you want to raise that Little kid, Carline, you'll have to train some of the recklessness out of her. She had a narrow escape. Our men raided that Everidge street house that night, hunting for the plant, and the woman tried to get away. They shot at her. She—she ain't expected to live."

"There, there, Carline, don't get white over danger that's past. It ain't likely to happen again. Prob'ly Thad came in and saw Bosley take the money, and Bosley wasn't running any chances of being told on till he could get out of town. Then some of his cronies would have turned Thad loose again—only we stopped the plan by cutting a halt on all their dolings. Crummy, I got to be going. I want to see if I can't land a job somewhere on the strength of this."

The doorbell rang sharply. Mrs. Penfield found a knot of her neighbors in the driveway, discussing the newspaper accounts of the raid and the arrest of five suspects. Eagerly they invited her into their comparison of exciting events, feeling sure that through Jerry Winston's intimacy with Frank Bosley she would have many interesting details to contribute. But when she merely listened and added nothing, they were surprised, incredulous, even resentful.

From hour to hour further items were unearthed, dragged into the small community, and shared generously in an impromptu council of all the tenants. The Bosleys had not been popular; their downfall had therefore a satisfying element that lent peculiar piquancy to everybody's version. Word was a-tangle with keenest stimulation; the air was cloudy with exclamations.

Nor was there any perceptible diminution the next day—or the next. And scarcely had the driveway gossip thinned a trifle when Mrs. Penfield's thoughts were given a vastly different turn.

Mr. Cranshaw came to interview her. He had seen Mrs. Weatherhead; he had seen the hangings. He offered Mrs. Penfield a hundred dollars in cash and a small block of stock in his laundry association in exchange for her formula and a certain amount of supervision until its use should be mastered in the various laundries of which he had charge.

"It will mean," he told her, "about a thousand dollars a year—more, as the business grows—but you can be assured of that amount."

It seemed a fortune to Mrs. Penfield. She had difficulty in tempering her impetuous delight into a seemingly business attitude. To have a steady income, aside from her usual earnings, would mean a different life for the children.

After Mr. Cranshaw had gone, she began to plan exactly what that life should be. For one thing, she would surely be justified in giving up the management of The Custard Cup, which was rapidly precluding other duties. With significant juxtaposition, the fact that Mrs. Sanders was leaving her flat, flashed into her mind. Mrs. Sanders was going to live with a cousin in Sonoma county and help take care of a large family of children. Mrs. Penfield could rent that flat. It would be the pleasantest because a friend had lived in it. There would be conveniences, a more satisfactory number of rooms. She would keep up her laundry work, but under far easier conditions. There would be school books, clothes, plenty to eat, a fund slowly growing in the bank. Oh, everything would be different—and safer. Perhaps Uncle Jerry would—

She branched the subject to him as he came around the house from a flying trip to the loft—Uncle Jerry with the new position with a private detective bureau, and with twinkles more lively than ever in his kindly eyes.

"We could give you a room, Uncle Jerry. We could take the dining room for—"

The color came up in his bronzed face. "Well, I—I don't know, Carline," he stammered. "It's bulky of you to think of it, but—I hope I can't— that is—well, we'll talk it over." He trumped rapidly out of the alley.

"Well, I sure wonder what he means," thought Mrs. Penfield in surprise.

She watched. Uncle Jerry went up Miss Hepgood's steps.

"Oh-h-h!" she breathed. She ceased to wonder.

This Man Wouldn't Stay Down

HE was putting in long hours at monotonous unskilled work. His small pay scarcely lasted from one week to the next. Pleasures were few and far between and he couldn't save a cent.

He was down—but he wouldn't stay down! He saw other men promoted, and he made up his mind that what they could do he could do. Then he found the reason they were promoted was because they had special training—an expert knowledge of some one line. So he made up his mind that he would get that kind of training.

He marked and mailed to Scranton a coupon like the one on the right. That was his first step upward. It brought him just the information he was looking for. He found he could get the training he needed right at home in the hours after supper. From that time on he spent part of his spare time studying.

The first reward was not long in coming—an increase in salary. Then came another. Then he was made Assistant Manager. Now he is Manager with an income that means independence and all the comforts and pleasures that make life worth living.

It just shows what a man with ambition can do. And this man is only one out of hundreds of thousands who have climbed the same steps to success with the help of the International Correspondence Schools.

What about you? Are you satisfied merely to hang on where you are or would you, too, like to have a real job and real money? It's entirely up to you. You don't have to stay down. You can climb to the position you want in the work you like best. Yea, you can! The I. C. S. is ready and anxious to come to you, wherever you are, with the very help you need.

Surely when you have an opportunity that means so much, you can't afford to let another priceless hour pass without at least finding out about it. And the way to do that is easy—without cost, without obligating yourself in any way, mark and mail this coupon.

CHESNEY FARMS MAKES COUNTY FAIR OFFER

Chesney Farms sold a lot of very typy bred sows and gilts at their farm sale March 12. They went like hot cakes at prices that were certainly bargains for the men who bought them. At that time they made an offer that for all hogs shown at the coming county fair obtained from their herd, they would duplicate the prizes received there. They also offer a prize of $10, in addition to other prizes offered in the ton litter contest, for any ton litter produced in 1924 out of a sow or gilt bought from their herd. We have received several entries in the ton litter contest, and would say that you have until April 15 to enter. Let's make it a real contest this year and show what can be done in Lake County in an event of this kind.

Where Doomed Meet Death by Lethal Gas

Authorities seemed divided in their opinion as to the humanness of Nevada's new method of meting out capital punishment to murderers—namely, death by lethal gas. The Nevada State Penitentiary officials who recently carried out the execution by gas of Gee Jon, Chinese slayer, however, maintain that it is more humane than either hanging or electrocution.

In the above photographs, you see the exterior and interior of Nevada's new death house as constructed in the penitentiary yard at Carson City and in which Gee Jon met his death. The chimney shown on the house—in the upper picture—was arranged as a vent to let the poison fumes escape. From the window in the foreground, the witnesses watched the legal killing.

PEOPLE OF UNITED STATES CAN EAT REINDEER MEAT

Reindeer meat may occasionally be purchased in some of the larger markets of the country, particularly in Pacific coast cities, according to the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. A recent report from Spokane, Wash., was to the effect that 33 Alaskan reindeer would be placed on sale on a certain day at a public meat market. The carcasses were shipped whole, with the hides on, and frozen solid, and it was stated that to preserve the juices and flavor, the meat would be cut up and sold without thawing. These particular carcasses were part of a shipment from St. Lawrence Island, in the Bering Sea, made as an experiment of the Bureau of Education. The Biological Survey states that at the close of the transportation season on the Bering Sea coast in October, over 1,500 reindeer carcasses were shipped from Alaska to the United States. Of this number, 1,000 were shipped by a single company.

Reindeer meat is fine-grained, contains a good palatable fat, and is not "gamy" in flavor when properly produced and handled, but compares favorably with beef. The liver is not unlike calves' liver and, as it is of large size, makes an important item of food. The tongue and heart are both of good flavor and quality.

Does are not slaughtered. A certain number of bucks are set aside for breeding purposes, and the rest are raised as steers, to be butchered when about 3 years old. The dressed weight of a 3-year-old steer averages about 150 pounds. By cross-breeding with caribou and following a process of selection and grading up of stock in the herds the weight will eventually be much increased. At the present time, a little more than 30 years after the first importation of reindeer into Alaska from eastern Siberia, the number of living reindeer in Alaska is estimated to be about 250,000. In addition half as many or more have been slaughtered for food and clothing. Dogua as an experiment, reindeer grazing in Alaska has amply proved its practicability and demonstrated its importance as one of the great future industries of the Territory.

MEXICAN BEAN BEETLE STILL SPREADING THROUGHOUT EAST

In spite of the progress made in direct control measures, the Mexican bean beetle is still the most important enemy to bean growing in the area where it is found. In addition to the steady northward spread of the insect, there has been some extension of the infested territory to the west in Tennessee and Mississippi and to the south in Georgia, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Although the Mexican bean beetle appeared later than usual last spring, the injury by midsummer was fully up to the average and many of the mid season bean plantings which were untreated with arsenical were destroyed. It is possible that some of the spread of the insect into new territory occurred at this time, since the insect was compelled to migrate in search of food.

By the middle of August the beetles became restless and few eggs were deposited on the plants. Owing to this fact many of the later bean plantings were not seriously injured.

Mrs. William Burke of Lake Geneva visited several days the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Van Duzer.

The third church night of the Methodist church, held last Thursday evening, was a grand success, as everyone attending seemed to enjoy spending a social evening together. About 6 o'clock the committee had the tables profitably set for the large crowd of men, women and children, the children having tables set by themselves so they could more easily enjoy the evening meal. Songs were sung and talks given during the meal which each one seemed to enjoy. After supper the children were taken upstairs by Miss Baxter, while the older people enjoyed games and the dishes were being taken care of, then all went up stairs where short devotional services were conducted.

HIGH-BROWS SPRING BOOMERANG IN THE GOVERNOR CAMPAIGN

A number of boomerangs have been hurled by the enemies of Governor Small during the present campaign but one of the most dastardly was that at Lake Forest where a few of the high-brow women went about the city and demanded that certain merchants take from their windows the large picture of Governor Small. The merchants with no exception who were so approached by the wife of Mayor Ramsey of Lake Forest and others refused to obey such an order and the result has been that the boomerang is daily more and more apparent.

Instead of the pictures of Governor Small disappearing they have appeared in larger numbers than before. In other words the ordinary folks in Lake Forest are plainly resenting the position assumed by the high-brows and as a result many pictures have appeared in store windows where they have never been seen before.

Not only have they appeared in a more conspicuous manner but in some cases the merchants have gone so far even as to paste them on the window panes. Prior to the presumptuous demands made by the "high-brows," the merchants in many cases were willing to allow the pictures to be set down in one corner of their window. Now in order to show their resentment at the "demands" made by the high-brows the merchants have set them up in plain sight, pasted them on the windows, and insist that they have a right to use their own judgment relative to the governor's campaign.

And so one more boomerang has been put into the campaign by the Washington crowd and they are making no effort to prevent the stampede that is apparent in Lake Forest and Highland Park as a result of their efforts to relegate Governor Small's picture to the woodshed. In other words, they pulled a "bone-head move" and it is rebounding to the advantage of Governor Small.—The Waukegan Sun.

RADIO SETS ARE ON

THE INCREASE HERE

Replies from 73 Illinois Counties in a radio survey just completed by the I. A. A. show that there are 20,345 radio receiving sets on farms in these counties stated Farm Adviser Doerschuk. Four hundred of these sets are in Lake county it is estimated.

These farm radio sets tune in nightly on stations all over the United States. Chicago, Davenport and St. Louis are mentioned most frequently, but distant stations such as New York, Dallas, Fort Worth, are also mentioned. Replies from most of the counties indicate that many farmers tune in on the weekly farm lectures broadcasted each Tuesday night from station KYW, Chicago, under the auspices of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

An increasingly number of farm communities use receiving sets for their meeting programs. These are installed in school houses, country churches or community houses. Logan county reports 4 rural schools having sets. In Greene county there are no regular community sets as yet, but private sets are frequently loaned and installed in community meetings.

$46,500 APPORTIONED TO

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

Approval of the 1924 budget of the Illinois Agricultural Association at $300,000 was made by the executive committee of the organization at its March meetings. Of this amount, $46,500 was allotted to co-operative marketing departments of livestock, grain, dairy, fruit and vegetables, and poultry and eggs.

Service departments, including legal taxation and statistics, transportation, speakers' bureau, organization, information, legislation, phosphate-limestone and tuberculosis eradication were allowed $128,000. A large share of the work of the service departments goes towards the work of the co-operative marketing departments and to service in co-operative marketing associations, state I. A. A. officials.

The Illinois Agricultural association is supported entirely by the 62,000 farm bureau members in 95 Illinois counties. Five dollars from the dues of each member goes toward the support of the association. A total of $29,000 of the budget is allotted to the American Farm Bureau federation, 50 cents of the $5.00 state fee going to the national organization.

TACK TACTICS

A tack is not, observers say, A quiet, restful seat, And sitting on its point is not choice, long-sought-for treat. The one who thinks it is a chair Will very quickly find That it might pleasantly be called The early-rising kind.

The man of bulk and dignity, Of broad, expansive vest, Who looks around the place to pick A seat where he may rest, Can't see the little tack that points Domineering toward the skies, And when he plumps into the chair His next act is to rise.

For solid comfort and a sense Of dreamy, sweet repose, The upturned tack will not be sought By anyone who knows.

They'd take the hard side of a board, A howler, or a brick On which to spend an afternoon If they were asked to pick.

The warrior or the man of peace Who sits down unawares Upon the north end of a tack Forgets himself and swears, Though this malicious brad does not Make an ideal seat.

For making language more ornate It couldn't well be bent.

SOME HEBREWITICISMS

An old Jewish woman was bawling the plight of her daughter, who had just been left a widow with a large family, with no one to depend on for support but her own parents. "Oh, oh, oh!" wailed the old woman, "that my daughter's husband should die and leave her with seven girls, and their grandfather in the boys' clothing business!"

She—So you crossed the desert in your auto. It must have been no interesting trip.

He—A bit monotonous. It's a roller to run into people once in a while.

Tell the World You're Proud to Live in ANTIOCH

Surely, you have all the reason in the world to be thankful you live in Antioch. Your commercial interests are here. Your social interests are here. Your prospects here are far more promising than they would be anywhere else. Nary a cloud hovers on the horizon of your future. Could things look any brighter?

Compare Antioch with New York, Chicago, or any of the larger centers of the country. There it is—"Everybody for himself. Get what you can and the best o' luck". It's hustle every minute with never a thought or a kind deed for a neighbor's welfare.

How different the spirit is here. Your neighbor's interests are your own. He thinks—"What can I do to please others? What can I do to help improve the town, help it grow and make it a better place in which to live?" Your thoughts are the same. And through your actions and his actions, Antioch has become the best place in the world.

Population doesn't make a great community. It's the spirit of those who live in it.

So, do a little "Oral Boosting". Tell the world you're mighty happy to be here.

We the undersigned professional and business interests are doing our share by advertising the fact.

Do yours, by "WORD OF MOUTH."

The Apostle's Creed

"I believe in the Holy Spirit." I changed it from "Ghost" to "Spirit." I do not believe in ghosts. It is unfortunate that we have not been able in every case to change the wording of our ritual and our hymns, so that they would all read "Spirit," because when the Greek word was first translated into English it meant something different than "Ghost" now means. I believe in the Holy Spirit, as Paul and the New Testament and Old Testament writers did. But they did not believe in the Trinity. A study of Paul will show this: see Ephesians 4:30. Grieve not the holy spirit of God. Look in Psalms 51:11, and Isaiah 63:10 and you will see that in Old Testament times the Holy Spirit was thought of the same as in the New Testament, and it was thought to have the same relationships with men as in later Bible times. The idea that the Holy Spirit as the third person of the trinity did not come into action till after the death of Jesus is disproved by the Old Testament use of the same term. In other words, in the Old Testament, as in the New, the term Holy Spirit meant God, and nothing else.

In Vol. I, p. 631 of the Catholic Encyclopedia, Harnack, the great Lutheran scholar, is quoted as saying that "no proof can be shown that until about the middle of the second century the Holy Spirit was believed to be a person." It was thought to be a gift or an attribute of God—it was God Himself working in human affairs. We would say it was God—Immanent—right here in our lives. The doctrine of the Trinity was the product

STYLES SHOW INDIVIDUALITY

Individuality is one of the most striking things about American men. They insist on expressing their own ideas.

They won't all go to the same church, drive the same kind of car, vote the same political ticket or wear the same clothes. They simply must be "different."

That's one of the most refreshing things about American styles. You can't put the men in uniforms. Some like double-breasted clothes; some do not; some like form-fitting styles and some want their clothes loose.

The two suits shown above typify the individuality of American styles. At the left is a double-breasted suit, with an indication of the waist line and athletic shoulders.

At the right is a two-button easy fitting, loosely draped suit of the modified English type with the buttons widely spaced and the waist line low.

Both are correct and both are popular.

of early Christianity and Greek philosophy.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Harris Franklin Hall of Garrett has been sometimes called a heretic, he now is and has been for years, the chairman of the board of Conference studies of all of Methodism. He has written a pamphlet called, "What can I believe?" In it he has chapters on God, the Bible, the meaning of Christ, the church, immortality, etc., but none on the Holy Spirit, but he does have a whole chapter on "God and the world," in which he talks of God in His world, and in all of these relations, those who have followed the historic idea of the Holy Spirit in the trinity, can remember that Dr. Hall is restoring the functions of the Spirit as the functions of God in His world: "God is the great Companion; God is the fellow-worker, the helper, the bur- den-bearer. God is in his world. He is in the experience of prayer, in the spirit that filled the prophet," and similar utterances. I held his assistant professor down to a definite statement as to his belief in the trinity, and he said, "The trinity expresses the historical way in which have thought about God." I can say "Amen" to that. That man is a unitarian—not with a capital letter. So am I a unitarian in my belief in the unity of God. I believe in the Holy Spirit of God, not as the third person of a trinity, which is a man-made conception, but as the spirit of God Himself—His very self, as He has commerce and intercourse with men.

If you mention Matthew 28:19 as a statement about Trinity, I shall be obliged to quote the Burton & Goodspeed Harmony of the Synoptic Gospels, that from verse nine on, in that chapter, is doubtful—that it is not found in the two oldest Greek manuscripts of the gospel, and in a lot of others the readings are variable. I am sure from study, that verse 19 is a second century statement of a Bap- tismal Formula, which shows clear proof of unchristian influence from the Mystery religions.

I may be wrong, and many other New Testament students may be wrong, and if so I am always ready to learn the difference, but I feel very sure that the difference will never be found out by some one who has never studied the subject.

As for the statements of our Creed, we must remember the anti-Christian spirit of the church counsels out of which they came, and the late date (325 A. D.) and that the side of those who believed differently never had a chance, for the side that was most powerful politically won. It was a vote of the majority, and the truth never can be ascertained by a vote.

Let us turn back to the principles of John Wesley: "We may die without knowledge of many truths and yet be carried to Abraham's bosom, but if we die without love, what will knowledge avail. I am sick of opinions. Give me solid and substantial religion, give me a humble, gentle lover of God and man." He published for his followers a part of the biography of Thomas Firmin, a Socinian, stating that though he had once held that there could not be real religion without correct opinion as to the Trinity, he had come to think differently, forced by the facts of Firmin's life. The only requirement for admission into any of his churches was the desire to flee from the wrath to come and to live a Christian life. We have gone a long way from his broad-mindedness when we made subscription to the Apostles' Creed necessary for admission into our church. Such a condition was omitted in 1916 in the report of the commission on the revision of the ritual, but it was defeated by the action of the bishops. Another attempt in same direction was made in 1920, but that failed also. It seems strange that our church which has professed such faith in the leading of the Spirit, should thus believe that faith, by trying to make it impossible for the future to get a new idea. This also is contrary to the spirit of Wesley: "In our first conference," he writes, "it was agreed to examine every point to the foundation. Have we not been fearful of doing this? Of what were we afraid? Of overturning our first principles? Whoever was afraid of this, it was a vain fear. For if they be true, they will bear the strictest investigation. If they are false, the sooner they are overturned the better. Let us all pray for a willingness to receive light."

In an editorial in The Christian Century magazine, one sentence stands out with great force: "To tell a man to study, and yet bid him, under heavy penalties, to come to the same conclusions as those who have followed His example. I believe in the not studied, is to mock him." This is Holy Spirit of God, but not in the quoted from the words of Archbishop of Canterbury.

In Ephesians 4:15 Paul says to speak the truth in love. I am doubtful as to alleged truths which can not be spoken in love. And when truths have to be quarreled about, I sh girl. Her mother said, mischief-doubt both sides. Read that fourth chapter, and you will see that to Paul, as to Jesus, the spirit of love was and more important than always to be right in our opinions. God entrusts truth to everyone, without worrying as to the results. We can afford to would perish with mademoiselle!"

—E. Lester Stanton.

L'HOMME GALANT

A Frenchman was courting an English girl. Her mother said, mischief-doubt both sides. Read that fourth chapter, and you will see that to Paul, as to Jesus, the spirit of love was and more important than always to be right in our opinions. God entrusts truth to everyone, without worrying as to the results. We can afford to would perish with mademoiselle!"

Customer Cooperation

TELEPHONE service consists essentially in providing the facilities for communication.

Reduced to fundamentals, it may be stated thus:—

- A is provided with a telephone.
- B is provided with a telephone.
- C, through wires and mechanism, connects these two telephones.

Satisfaction with the service depends largely on A and B.

From the very beginning their cooperation is imperative. A must call B and B must answer. Doing these things in the way which makes for good service involves:—

- 1—Such care in asking for the number as one would use in addressing a letter.
- 2—Such promptness in answering the call as one would give to keeping a personal appointment.
- 3—Such courtesy as one would show in making or receiving a business or social call.
- 4—Such clear, correct speech as one would use in the face-to-face transaction of the most important business.

Each subscriber can increase the effectiveness of his telephone communication by such thoughtfulness as he would employ in his daily life.

Small Gets First Place on Ballot

Governor Len Small's name appears on the primary ballot in first place in Lake County. Essington's occupies second position. Medill McCormick appears in first place on the ballot for U. S. senator. Deane is in third place of the five candidates.

These important facts became known when County Clerk Lew A. Hendee received the official copy for the primary ballot for April 8th election. President Coolidge's name appears first for the position of chief executive; Hiram Johnson is second. These are the only two republican candidates.

Wm. G. McDade is the only candidate under the democratic party and no candidate appears in the socialist column for president or delegates to the national convention.

The socialists, however, have candidates for U. S. senator and state officials as well as district officials, etc.

In the republican column for Lieut. Governor, Lewis Rinker appears in first position with Fred E. Sterling second and Charles E. Kramp third.

Louis Emmerson for Secretary of State and Oscar Nelson for auditor are unopposed.

Charles A. Gregory gets first position for treasurer and Chas. T. Stevenson second. There are five candidates.

Walter M. Provine gets first position for Attorney General with Edward J. Brundage second; Oscar E. Carlstrom third and Stephen A. Day fourth.

Henry R. Rathbone appears in first position for representative for congress at large, Richard Yates second and Winifred Mason third.

Carl R. Chindblom is unopposed for congressman.

Leonard A. Brundage, a brother of the attorney general, is first for state central committeeman for this district and J. J. Bryan is second.

For state senator Charles Eldredge is first, Rodney B. Swift second and Leslie N. George third.

For representative in the general assembly Wm. F. Weiss is first, Chas. H. Francis second and F. W. Ackerman third, N. L. Jackson fourth and James Monroe Guntorp fifth. Three men are to be nominated.

L. J. Wilmut for clerk of the Circuit court, and Lewis O. Brockway for recorder of deeds are unopposed.

For coroner Dr. Taylor is first and James L. Miller second.

For county surveyor Chas. L. Russell is first, James Anderson second and B. P. Thacker third.

Positions assigned to the six candidates for state's attorney are in this order: Eugene Runyard, A. V. Smith, Wm. A. Deane, James G. Welch, H. J. Haasen and Herman C. Litchfield.

The democratic column shows that there are no candidates for county positions and the same is true with reference to the socialist's column.

How Position Is Fixed
With reference to the state candidates, under the law they rotate; in other words, Gov. Small occupies first position in Lake County as the result of having been assigned first position in the senatorial districts bearing even numbers. Lake county is the eighth senatorial district, therefore Small is in first position.

Essington will be in first position in the districts carrying odd numbers. In this way the various candidates for state and national offices rotate.

The ballot given to Mr. Hendee is by far the largest that has ever been used in a nomination or election in Lake county. It is the most unwieldy affair imaginable and those who start to scratch it will have some job on their hands.

GLARING AUTO LIGHT LAW IS OFTEN MISUNDERSTOOD

The section of the motor vehicle law in Illinois applying to lights was amended at the 1923 session of the Legislature and, according to the legal department of the Chicago Motor Club, the amendment is not fully understood by many motorists.

The law says: "On approaching another vehicle approaching in an opposite direction, and within not less than 250 feet of same, any person in charge of a motor vehicle or motor vehicle shall dim, drop or extinguish such headlights."

Owners of vehicles equipped with glare lenses that deflect the rays are not allowed under the provisions of the act to keep on their bright lights when meeting other vehicles, the only exception being those cars equipped with devices that throw the light down on the road by means of tilting the reflector or lamp, this type coming under the head of "dropping" the light.

Investigators for the club have ascertained that visitors from other states in which certain types of lenses are approved by law are the most frequent violators of the Illinois law.

News Notes Taken From Other Papers

The Lake County Central Labor Union has called a meeting of milk producers and city workers which was held at the labor hall in Waukegan Tuesday night. The purpose of the meeting is to develop an organization. Plans toward this end have been in progress for a long time. A plea was made that a representative gathering be on hand in order that no time may be lost in the organization. Victor Olander, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, was the principal speaker. Frank T. Fowler of Lake Villa and Judge Pedon of Chicago also gave talks. Much interest has been expressed in the announced plan.

Farmers throughout the county today are receiving the prices established at the milk meeting of the producers and buyers in which a six months contract on a sliding scale was accepted:

April	.....$2.50
May	.....2.30
June	.....2.30
July	.....2.70
August	.....2.75
September	.....2.75

The above prices are based on 3.5 percent milk with the usual differential of 4 cents a point up or down.

The can prices F. O. B. point of delivery are:

April	.....$2.06
May	.....1.92
June	.....1.92
July	.....2.18
August	.....2.22
September	.....2.22

According to reports from Belvidere the Bowman Dairy company will not buy the Borden factory at that point as rumors would have had it some time ago. On account of the cheaper mode of handling milk in tank cars the Bowman company expect to use and have already started using some of their own plants as receiving stations and it would thus be folly for them to buy other plants.

Receiving an average of $3.74 per hundred for his milk for the entire year of 1923, and receiving it on the merits of a 4.68 butter fat test, is the record established by L. F. Weimer on his farm east of Burlington.

Anyone who is familiar with dairying knows that a 3.6 butter fat test is the average, yet with his herd of grade guernseys, Mr. Weimer has had his tests come nearly to the 4.60 mark for twelve consecutive months. Added to this high test were premiums paid him by his dealer for the high rating his milk receives in the bacteria test.

William Bigel, bee expert for the Hawthorne Farms Co., is at the Oak Park hospital in a precarious condition as a result of collision with a Chicago, Elgin & Aurora third rail train at Maywood crossing last week.

Mrs. Nellie Schultze won the nomination for tax collector in Barrington township at the primary last Saturday afternoon by a margin of 147 votes. She led in both precincts, having a majority of 120 over her opponent, Mrs. Nellie Robertson, in the first precinct, and a majority of 27 in the second precinct.

Other nominations, which were made without opposition, were as follows: For supervisor, C. P. Hawley; town clerk, V. D. Hawley; assessor, John C. Plagge; highway commissioner, August Ruter; school trustee, for full term, Wm. H. Krampus; school trustee to fill vacancy, H. A. Landwer.

That one good term deserves another was demonstrated when William Freeman, candidate for re-election to the office of highway commissioner of Richmond township, was given an overwhelming vote at the Republican caucus held there last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Freeman has given such good service on the township's highways the past two years that the voters thought he certainly deserved another term and his nomination was freely predicted before the ballot was taken Saturday. The vote stood 133 for Freeman and 33 for Reuben B. Pagel. The voters of Richmond township speak in highest terms of Mr. Pagel, who bears the reputation of being a fine fellow, and they hold nothing personal against him except that he is a farmer, and for that reason could not devote all of his time to work on the roads. The one-sided ballot was nothing more nor less than a splendid vote of approval for the way the lanky commissioner has taken care of the duties of his office for the past two years.

Burlington put on city alms recently when thirty-five women employees of the Universal Can Co. went on a strike for an increase in wages.

The action was a sudden one. The women got together during the noon hour, decided they should have an increase in pay, marched in delegation to Manager C. M. Knight and demanded the increase. It was refused and the women went to the factory, got their aprons and walked home.

The women demanded thirty cents an hour straight time, or $2.50 with the present bonus the company pays for production over a certain amount.

The women were joined on Wednesday by ten of the younger men employees of the factory, the men demanded twenty percent increase in pay.

The company has been operating four lines of can making machinery. After the strike the remaining force was reorganized so that two lines were operated, cutting the production of the plant by one half.

At a recent meeting of the Lake county board of supervisors it was resolved that the highway extending from Lake Zurich to Area be proposed as a state aid road. Communications regarding the proposal have been sent to the state highway department at Springfield.

FOR BIGGEST YIELD OF OATS EARLY SEEDING IS ADVISED

Early seeding of oats is the first essential, says the United States department of agriculture, for maximum yields. In most sections oats should be sown as early as it is possible to get on the land to prepare a seed bed. This crop develops best in cool weather and frequently is injured by a few hot days during the ripening period. For this reason early seeding is practically always advisable.

The date of seeding largely depends on the locality and the season. In the corn belt the best time usually is during the latter part of March or early April. In the more northern oat sections seeding usually is not possible until late April. In backward and unfavorable seasons the seeding may have to be delayed until early May.

Where oats follow corn, potatoes, or other cultivated crops, the land should be disked and harrowed sufficiently to make a loose, friable seed bed about 3 inches deep. Spring plowing usually results in a less satisfactory seed bed, as there is not sufficient time for the soil to become well settled before seeding. Further, spring plowing is more expensive, and thus adds to the cost of production.

BUY BABY CHICKS WITH CARE, DEPARTMENT ADVISES

Practical poultry raisers and farmers are relying upon the large hatcheries more and more each year as a source of supply for their new crop of chicks. In other words, each year sees fewer and fewer chicks hatched under hens, and the mammoth hatcheries are taking the place, to a certain extent, of the smaller incubators which are commonly operated on farms. It is because of the fact that farmers are buying baby chicks from the large commercial hatcheries that officials of the United States department of agriculture feel the necessity of urging them to exercise great care in deciding upon where to buy this year's supply of chicks.

The question of supreme importance to a purchaser of baby chicks is the source of supply of eggs for the hatcheries. Many of the hatcheries have their business well organized and are able to guarantee the quality of the chicks. Some of the hatcheries, however, are not so particular where they purchase the eggs they use and are not able to guarantee high-quality chicks.

Especially where the chicks are to be used for layers and for developing the flock, the purchaser should insist upon a satisfactory statement from the hatchery as to the quality of eggs used. Only pure-bred chicks should be purchased. He should satisfy himself that the eggs were from a flock of good standard quality with truest records and that the flock was in good breeding condition. Purchase baby chicks with great care, says the department. It is better to pay a few cents more for good quality chicks than to be disappointed.

WHY THE KIDS GO WRONG

The chief engineer of the Cleveland park department, in a recent address, shows the effect of playgrounds on conduct of children. In the wards of his city where playgrounds are fewest, there the peak of delinquency is the highest. In one neighborhood delinquency was reduced 67 per cent just by opening a playground.

It costs a little money to buy and run a playground, and something more to have it supervised by some person that understands how to deal with the young crowd, and help them to get the best results. But jails, and reform schools and loss of production, through criminal tendencies and vices encouraged by lack of play opportunities, cost more.

Bearer Ticket Given Back at Burlington

The Burlington club has been victorious in its effort to have the Soo Line restore its "bearer" tickets, between Burlington and Chicago, Secretary M. M. Morrissey March 15th received word that the tickets would again be placed on sale April 15.

About a year ago the Soo Line withdrew the bearer tickets, claiming that the privilege was abused here by agents who bought and resold the tickets at a profit to themselves. The tickets were still sold at Antioch and other places and Burlington citizens could never understand why they were singled out to be discriminated against.

From time to time the Burlington club has had the matter up with the Soo Line but it was never able to get favorable consideration until the latter came last Saturday.

The letter also announces that a special rate will go in effect on May 15 and be in effect until September 30, which will be aimed at helping the owners of summer resorts at the different lakes in the neighborhood of Burlington. This is a special "individual" round trip ticket from Chicago to Burlington and return at the same price which a ride would cost on a ten ride ticket. These tickets will have a final return limit of fifteen days from date of sale.

More About Good Roads

The state department of public works that has the good roads as one of its divisions presented to the Senate the one hundred million dollar bill for a system of hard roads, specifying the towns to be connected.

Senators and representatives and delegates from many localities had been before Governor Small and the road department asking that certain roads be put into the bill and promising the political support of their communities if these roads were included. Delegates from Lake County, headed by Little Billie Smith had been received by the Governor and certain roads asked for. The Governor knew, however, that Little Billie was already hog-tied by his $7,000 job on the Commerce Commission and the "emoluments" for the change of front of the Smith brothers' SUN, and so Lake county got but a patch of road here and there, and McHenry and Boone were also a good bit short.

When this bill came to the Senate it did not take Senator Swift long to see the dirty deal that Little Billie had put over on the county and he jumped into the ring to add the mileage really due the 8th Senatorial District.

His first amendment was for a road from Zion City west across the north end of Lake county to Antioch, thence west to Richmond, Hebron, Alden, Harvard across the north end of McHenry county and thence west to Capron, Poplar Grove, Caledonia across the north end of Boone county to connect with the hard road to Rockford, Beloit and Janesville, a total of nearly 80 miles—and the southern senators began to squirm and the Governor's leaders to explain that no more mileage would be allowed. Senator Swift showed that Lake county alone paid nearly $100,000 a year in auto license fees and counties in the south down as low as $2,500 a year, and that the roads of the eighth district carried thousands upon thousands of Chicago cars, and that the eighth district could not give up necessary roads because Little Billie said, "Don't worry the Governor, I will attend to Lake county." Swift fought for his amendment and won it with the help of Chicago democrats who ride the eighth district's roads.

Having won the route 173 fight, Swift went to it and won 172—Libertyville to Gurnee. When the bill reached the floor of the Senate he added route 176, Area to Ivanhoe, Wauconda and thence westerly across Bartin's Ridge to connect with the hard road to Crystal Lake, McHenry and Woodstock.

Some men truckle and toady and palaver and promise to get a piece of road built a little more quickly, but Senator Swift writes routes into the bills.

Only capable men, willing to fight for their district are worthy to sit in the seats of the mighty.

Arrest Sponge Squad Member for Burglary

Ira Blackwell, valued members of State's Attorney A. V. Smith's dry raiding squad, one of the state's attorney's chief investigators of liquor and other violations being stamped out by A. V. Smith, was arrested by Officer Frank Gabella of North Chicago at 12:30 o'clock last Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Wanko, 1135 McAllister avenue on a charge of burglary and drunkenness.

Blackwell demanded an immediate hearing so Justice John Nelson was called out of bed to hear the case. Blackwell scouted out his friend Steve Kroll, a man who has been under investigation for liquor violations many times, and Kroll signed the $500 bond for Blackwell's release. The case will come up before Justice Nelson later this week.

Late Wednesday night Mrs. Wanko called the North Chicago police station and reported that Blackwell had broken into her house. Officer Gabella answered the call and caught Blackwell in the home of Mrs. Wanko. Blackwell was placed under arrest and taken to the North Chicago police station where Justice Nelson was summoned and the hearing was held.

It is declared that Blackwell was taken to the Wanko home from Wankogan in a taxi driven by J. Horn. After leaving Blackwell at the Wanko home, the police say Horn drove away and left Blackwell, who is said to have been under the influence of liquor. The police declare that he was carrying a bottle of liquor at the time he was arrested.

FARM BUREAU NEWS

GUERNSEY BREEDERS MEET.

Guernsey Breeders of Lake county met at the Farm Bureau Office Monday, March 10. A good representation was present and the old association was reorganized by electing the following officers: President, J. L. Waddell; vice president, J. H. Baird; secretary, W. A. Thinnerman; treasurer, E. L. Vineyard. A committee was appointed to revise the constitution, and another meeting is called for April 8, at the Farm Bureau Office. It is the desire of the officers that this be a real Guernsey booster meeting and every one at all interested in Guernseys is urged to come whether he has a grade herd or a few purebreds. Several important matters will be decided at that time. The members present voted to start a Guernsey calf club and will do all they can in their respective communities to get members. A committee was appointed to work out the calf club project consisting of President Waddell, C. E. Wheelock and J. J. Doerschuk. The matter of making a Guernsey exhibit at the County Fair was discussed and according to a record taken at the meeting there will be 39 animals shown at the Fair by those present at the meeting.

Interest in Guernsey cattle is increasing right along in Lake county. Already farms, who are producing certified milk, according to manager Layson several years ago kept about 10% Guernsey cattle in their herd. Since then the insistent demand for richer milk, with more cream in the bottle, has caused them to increase the proportion of Guernseys to one-third, and even then are getting calls for richer milk from their customers. Several very good milk routes in Lake county are supplied entirely with Guernsey milk. Prof. Rhode of the University of Illinois estimates that there are not over 1,200 registered Guernsey cattle in Illinois. Of this number Lake county no doubt leads the list of counties having the largest number of purebreds.

The association hopes to make the April 7th meeting a real one, so if you are interested in Guernseys come out. The association is planning a real program for 1924, and is a live one.

$12,085.24 Paid to Lake County Farmers

Lake county does not need to be ashamed of results secured in testing cattle for tuberculosis. Dr. Grianell has been on the job right along, being on the roads whenever they were at all passable. Ever since he started work in October, Lake county has "topped the market" for number of reactors monthly over all Illinois counties, and has taken the lead in the number of cattle tested in northern Illinois. From Oct. 9th to March 8th, a period of five months, 4912 cattle were tested, of which 957 were reactors. Of this number of reactors indemnity money in full for 338 head, representing 51 owners, has been received. These 51 men have received a total of $12,085.24 from the United States Government and the State of Illinois. This amount is in addition to what these men received as salvage for their reactors at the stockyards. This salvage money probably amounted to $7,000 or more. The state and federal money to be received depends, of course, upon the condition of the animals, the number of grades and purebred, etc., but it is a close estimate that these 957 head of reactors will bring their owners somewhat more than $33,000, besides their value as salvage. The county board of supervisors are spending $4,000 a year on this proposition, and it is doubtful that any money they appropriate brings back more than this does to the farmers of the county.

Dr. Grianell has quite a few on his waiting list and as the retest work will start in April, those wanting to get a test this spring should make arrangements as soon as possible to remember that this is the real opportunity of stopping disease in your herd. That you get federal help in the cleanup work and that no dairy farmer can afford to allow tuberculosis to get a start in his cows, heifers or chickens and most of all in his children. Needless to say the latter reason is by far the most important. Deerfield township has made almost a clean sweep of tuberculosis in the herds tested there. Will Deerfield have the honor of being the first township in the dairy district of Northern Illinois to be entirely free of T. B.? Just a little more cooperation there will get this record. Let's go.

Have You Tested Your Seed Corn?

The adviser has tested a number of samples of seed corn from over the county, with a dozen more ready soon. These tests run from 40 to 98 percent, with an average of 81 percent so far. One field selected sample tested only 79 percent and another from the same field selected later tested only 40 percent.

Any corn testing less than 90 percent should be tested ear by ear, using not less than five or six kernels from an ear. Sawdust box or rag doll testers are good to use. In using the rag doll tester, mark off squares numbered to correspond with the number of the ear. Moisten cloth, then lay five or six kernels from each ear on proper square until cloth is full. Roll it up, tie string around, and soak for eight hours in warm water, after which wrap up in gunny sack and newspaper and keep in warm place. If necessary after two days soak the rag doll again for a short time only. Open test to read after six days. Never use any ears except those where all the kernels test four good out of six, that will make a poor lot. Also it is necessary to use not less than five or six kernels from an ear in testing, well spaced around the ear, for you will not get a fair sample otherwise.

Several of these rag dolls containing samples from 25 to 30 ears each can easily be filled in an evening or many more on a rainy or bad day.

Every year there are parties who claim they can tell by the looks of seed whether it will grow. So good a judge as Mr. Wobb of Joliet states that in 20 years of judging corn at shows, and examining corn, he will not risk a guess on whether seed corn will grow. He says the only way is to test it out.

Where to Get Tested Cattle to Replace Reactors

We have been asked by a large number of men who are testing their herds where and how they can get cattle to replace reactors. Several parties bought cattle in Jefferson and Waukesha Counties. The Illinois Agricultural Association, through M. H. Petersen, who is working on the T. B. campaign, have investigated Barron county, Wisconsin. This is an area where there never has been much tuberculosis, and was the first clean county in Wisconsin. They have over 500 accredited herds. Mr. Petersen reports that good Holstein and Guernsey cows can be purchased there at much more reasonable figures than near the Illinois line. Parties interested in getting cattle from that section will be assisted by the Farm Bureau in getting lined up with the proper parties. Barron County is located in the northwest central Wisconsin. Feel free to call us up for help on this problem.

INCREASE MILK OUTPUT.

BY USING BETTER STOCK

An increase of over 1,800,000 gallons in the annual milk production of New Castle County, Del., without increasing the number of dairy cows owned has followed five years' dairy improvement work, in which the county agent, progressive dairy farmers, and agricultural organizations cooperated. This county is located near a large city, affording a good market for whole milk, and dairying is an important farm industry.

When extension work in dairying was begun in New Castle County, many farmers were in the habit of buying a medium type of grade cow without a guaranty of health. Following a county meeting of dairymen in 1918, four carloads of purebred cows from herds under Federal supervision for tuberculosis control were brought in and distributed as far as possible at the rate of one to a farm, so that as many farmers as possible might learn for themselves whether or not the investment paid. The boys and girls on the farms became interested, were organized into a club, and a purebred calf secured by each member. New clubs have been organized each year following, and exhibits of club members' stock are a feature of district shows and the state fair.

Club members have produced about one fifth of the present holdings of purebred stock in the county. Pure bred bulls and cows have been purchased by many farmers, after the movement was begun, on their own initiative. There are now about 900 purebred dairy cattle in the county, while in 1915 there were only 380. A carefully worked-out ration is fed. Over 4,000 dairy cattle in the county are under Federal supervision for tuberculosis control. Four annual consignment sales of surplus stock have been held, the 1923 sale totaling over $7,000.

DEVELOPING A SMOOTH-AWNED BARLEY BEING UNDERTAKEN

The farm boy, the hired man, and the farmer himself, for that matter, will rise to a vote of thanks and give three cheers for the scientists of the United States department of agriculture when they succeed in developing on a commercial scale a variety of barley that can be wallowed in with impunity on a hot summer day without wearing a cast-iron shirt and overalls. The saw-edged beards of the many varieties of high-yielding barleys have been instrumental in keeping down the acreage of barley, and only its ability to produce a high acre yield in pounds of feed has maintained the present acreage.

Attempts by the agronomist in charge of the barley investigations for the department to develop a smooth-awned variety from the rough-awned Manchuria, which is a popular high-yielding variety, have resulted in considerable progress. Enough seed for general distribution is not yet available, however. Specimens of this smooth-awned barley are to be seen in the office of cereal investigations of the department. These awns are so smooth that they may be pulled across the face in either direction without any roughness being apparent except at the tip.

In these investigations it was found unwise to eliminate the awns entirely because they serve a definite purpose. When they are removed from the growing head by clipping, the ash is deposited in the rachis, or small stem to which the kernel is attached, making it more brittle and allowing the grain to shatter easily. The awns, it seems, act as a sort of safety valve or storehouse for this excess material. It has been found more practicable to develop a variety with a smooth awn than to remove it entirely.

Smooth-awned barleys are still in the experimental stage. Several high-yielding strains adapted to different climatic conditions are ready for increase to larger plots and field culture. Whether they can compete with the rough-awned varieties remains to be determined.

Around Our Town

"Are you sure that I shall recover?" an anxious patient once asked a physician. "I have heard that doctors sometimes give wrong diagnoses and have treated patients for pneumonia who afterward died of typhoid fever."

"You've been woefully misinformed," replied the medico indignantly. "If I treat a man for pneumonia he dies of pneumonia."

A tailor had called to collect his bill frequently, but without success. Finally, in desperation, he said vehemently: "Mr. Jones, I must insist that you make some definite arrangement with me?"

"Why, surely," replied Mr. Jones agreeably. "Let's see. Well, suppose you call every Thursday morning."

A Jew was arrested the other day, and, when taken to prison, was told to strip and take a bath.

"Vat, go in do vater?" he asked.

"Yess, take a bath. You need it."

How long is it since you had a bath?"

With his hands lifted upwards, the man answered: "I never vas arrested before."

Dr. Brown Is Found Guilty in Werner Case

"Dr." H. Spencer Brown, sometimes a resident of Antioch, mysterious figure in various phases of Chicago night life, and his partner, Frank Miller, were found guilty last week of having received stolen property in connection with the $1,000,000 bond looting of the Werner Brothers' warehouse.

A jury deliberated two hours and returned a sealed verdict to Judge Marcus Kavanagh.

The first ballot on Brown's fate was 11 to 1. The second was unanimous.

The penalty is from one to ten years' imprisonment, but sentence will not be pronounced pending hearing of a motion for new trial.

But Brown's immediate future is even more complicated than that. As he walked from the courtroom a man slipped him a package which he hurriedly thrust into his coat.

He entered the elevator unmolested and was allowed to cross into the City Hall on the first floor when Deputy U. S. marshals arrested him on a federal bench warrant, charging him with having received stolen property in connection with the $500,000 Union Station mail robbery. He was accused of violating five sections of the U. S. criminal code. Hearing them read, he smiled and said:

"Well, I'm glad they don't mention any murders, anyway."

He was taken to the detective bureau, where he is held pending his attempts to obtain $25,000 bonds.

There he was searched to determine the character of the mysterious package. It proved to be a pint of liquor.

In addition to that federal charge, Brown is at liberty on $10,000 bonds on charges of having altered $6,200 worth of war saving stamps, so that the place of issuance could not be determined. He was arrested on that charge as he left a municipal court room December 22.

Eight men were indicted in connection with the Werner bond theft, which occurred on Oct. 15, when cracksmen with an acetylene torch burned through a heavy steel door and rifled thirty-five safes deposit boxes.

Julian C. Ryer, an attorney, was arrested when, as a test, he cold a bond to the Continental & Commercial National bank. He said he got the bonds from Thor Waasburg, 1038 Duena avenue, who said that he and Howard Blackford and Frederick Fraha, brokers, had received the bonds from Herbert Hanna, another broker.

Hanna said Dr. Brown gave him $24,500 worth of the bonds to dispose of. Brown and Miller also were indicted charged with conspiracy to murder following charges of violence by McGill and Hanna. All defendants but the two were granted severances on the motion of the prosecutors, and they testified against the "master mind" and his accomplice. About $16,000 in bonds have been recovered so far.

Friend—What's that big box on the front of your machine?

Automobilist—That's a camera for taking moving pictures. You see, I go so fast I don't have time to look at the scenery, and so I photograph it as I go along.

"You say," quizzed the lawyer, "that the defendant fired three shots at you in rapid succession? Now, how far were you from him when he fired?"

"The first shot, or the last one, ah?"

"Why? What difference does that make?"

"Bout a quatah ob a mile, sah?"

PRINTED FARM STATIONERY GOOD BUSINESS PULLER

Have you ordered your farm stationery printed? If not, now is the time to do it, before you get so busy on the road you will not have time to attend to it. The up-to-date farmer has as attractive letterheads and envelopes as his professional or business brother in the village or city.

Money spent for good, well printed stationery is not an extravagance for the man on the farm, but an investment that brings money returns. The man who uses rubber stamps, manufacturers' advertising stationery is at once counted among those who have failed to grasp the philosophy of good business principles.

Why is it that some business men and farmers, too, will hesitate to spend a few dollars for properly printed stationery that would dignify their business and bring them prestige among those with whom they transact business, and then turn around and toss hundreds of dollars away on worthless and useless systems, schemes, and equipment peddled by some traveling shark? Maybe you know, we don't.

The first step toward real business success is good, well printed station-

"Yes," said the dark man, "my name is Isaac Abraham Jacob Cohen, but I don't like it. It cost me $100 the other day."

"How on earth was that?" asked his friend.
